

SPRING 2021
DIGITAL RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT INTERNSHIP (UNPAID)

Greensboro History Museum Inc. is pleased to announce an unpaid internship opportunity for undergraduate and graduate students who wish to gain valuable experience and possible course credit at a Smithsonian Affiliate and American Alliance of Museums–accredited institution. Internships are available during the spring semester, with schedules and hours determined after selection.

Learn and apply best professional practices in developing digital public history resources. Working under the direction of the Curator of Community History, the intern will support online engagement through the museum’s website and social media channels. Possible projects include social media campaigns tied to museum exhibits and programs; web resources and content for greensborohistory.org; podcasts adapted from online programs; or video stories developed from the museum’s History Happening Now initiative.

This internship will be conducted remotely due to Covid-19 concerns. Flexible weekday schedule, with some weekend hours possible.

Successful applicants will have a serious interest in public history and museums, strong interpersonal and communications skills, and the ability to work in a high-energy environment that prioritizes teamwork, creativity and intellectual curiosity. Experience in graphic design, digital storytelling or video production and editing a plus.

To apply, please submit the online form at greensborohistory.org/internships by Wednesday, January 27, 2021. You will need to attach the following three documents:

- 1. A personal statement describing your career plans and related experience, your reasons for seeking the internship, and how your efforts might benefit the Greensboro History Museum and the Democracy Tables project.
- 2. A resume with contact information for two academic or work references.
- 3. Your academic transcript (unofficial accepted).
